BATTLE OF THE WAR EXPECTED

JAPS PREPARING FOR A GRAND ASSAULT

Desperate Engagement Between Forces Around Liaoyang Looked for—Rumor of Capture of Port Arthur—Other News.

Nagasaki, Aug. 6.—Port Arthur has been captured by Japanese forces.

New York, Aug. 6.—It is not probable that Nagasaki would be the first point and only point to learn of the fall of Port Arthur. There are no advices from Tokyo or the Japanese legation at Washington or London to confirm the Nagasaki report.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 6.—Kuropatkin's report of small, shifting movements by the Japanese, with a single unimportant skirmish, bringing the military situation up to Aug. 4, is just about what was expected by the authorities here. It is believed, however, that the forces around Liaoyang are on the eve of a desperate and decisive engagement. The pause of the past few days is believed to be long enough to enable the Japanese to assume their formation, bring up supplies and make ready for a grand assault upon the powerful positions guarding Liaoyang, and the battle of the war is hourly expected to occur. An issue of such importance momentarily eclipses interest in the siege of Port Arthur. The fate of the latter place is not likely to influence the immediate destinies of the campaign, but Liaoyang is closely tied up with the fortunes of the whole war. The loss of this position with its vast accumulations of stores, would immediately and perhaps irreparably endanger the main Russian position in Manchuria. The military authorities do not entertain the slightest doubt of Kuropatkin's ability to repulse the attempt to capture and cut off Liaoyang. The army at his disposal is estimated at 150 battalions, besides cavalry and artillery, altogether not far short of 200,000 men. Only one-third of this force was engaged in the fighting on July 30 and 31 and Aug. 1.

Experts at the war office believe the Japanese will try to capture either Anshing or Anshanshan, whence they will be able to strike Liaoyang, and think it more likely Anshanshan will be selected because that place is in the line of the advance of Oku's and Nodzu's armies, and must be captured before an attempt is made to flank Liaoyang from the westward. The Russian position at Anshanshan is as strong as that at Kinohou. It consists of a precipitous barrier fifteen miles long, flanked on the eastward by the river and a marsh, and on the westward by a level plain, and it is impossible to approach by infantry from either side. The only weak spot is to the eastward, where the Japanese may mount heavy guns with longer range than the Russian pieces and pour in a flanking fire. It is considered more probable, however, that Nodzu will try to cut in between Anshanshan and Lianshan and cut off the former place from Liaoyang, but an attempt to do this would be sure to entail a terrific fight with the supports sent out by Kuropatkin.

AT PORT ARTHUR.

Chen Pao, Aug. 6.—Port Arthur certainly will fall inside of one or two months, depending on how fast the Japanese move. This opinion was expressed to day by an educated Russian, who had just arrived here from Port Arthur by a junk. He occupied an important semi-official position at Port Arthur and his views are regarded as valuable.

A newspaper published at Port Arthur and which was brought in here to day, gives fragmentary details of heavy recent fighting there. The Japanese artillery opened a desultory fire on July 25. That night the Russians slept on their arms in trenches. They occupied a line sixteen miles long. At six the next morning the Japanese began firing along the entire line. The fire was kept up until dark and the Japanese marksmanship was most accurate. Their heaviest fire was directed against the batteries which included 12-inch naval guns, commanded by Prince Tachibane and Captain Skrydloff. A perfect shower of shells hit the earthworks or went screaming into the valley behind, doing considerable damage to artillerymen. The hottest fighting began at day-break on the 27th. The battle commenced under the rays of a scorching sun. The Russian right wing was commanded by Major General Kondratenko, who was compelled to undergo the brunt of the terrific cannonading.

Do this fierce fire the Russians replied with desperation. The naval battery was again made the target for the heaviest fire. It was evident the Japanese were trying to silence the most dangerous Russian position. A perfect shower of shrapnel was thrown into the valley behind the Russian batteries. As the day wore on the activity of the Japanese fire increased. In the meanwhile the Russian infantry lay in their trenches awaiting the attack. They were well protected and but few shells fell among them.

At nine a volley of firing gave warning of a Japanese assault, which followed swiftly. As the Japanese infantry advanced Japanese artillery fire slackened somewhat, but the Russian battery replied with increased vigor, while Russian riflemen volleyed rapidly and with great animation. For an hour the Japanese advanced intrepidly in the face of a fire which is described as a thousand volleys in a simultaneous eruption. At noon of the 27th the Japanese ceased firing and meanwhile the main attack, which resulted in the capture of Wolf mountain, had been developed.

WAR REPORTS.

Vladivostok, Aug. 6.—The prize court yesterday adjudged the sunken steamer Knight Commander and its cargo a lawful prize.

New Cawang, Aug. 6.—A new Japanese naval force, composed of gunboats and torpedo boats, proceeded up the Liao river yesterday. The shallow draft of these vessels enables them to ascend the river a hundred miles. They are to intercept the Russian retreat to the westward. The Russians have again been outflanked and compelled to retire.

Washington, Aug. 6.—Minister Griseom, at Tokio, has notified the state department that the commander-in-chief of the Japanese in Manchuria seems it necessary that foreign war vessels should not enter Yantai or anchor therein until order has been entirely restored in that region.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 6.—Kuropatkin reports the Japanese advanced ten miles north of Hai Cheng Thursday and that they are advancing in considerable force from Kutsin, on the Russian east flank. The Japanese are concentrated in the neighborhood of Huhungou and considerable forces of Japanese are at Houtsaltze and Sikiesan. They attempted to cross to the right bank of the Taitse river, but were driven back.

London, Aug. 6.—A news agency St. Petersburg dispatch says the Russian battleship Slava was accidentally torpedoed to day at Cronstadt, but sustained no serious damage.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 6.—Military officers think it unlikely that Kuropatkin is giving battle at Liaoyang, since this would involve abandonment of stores, totaling millions of pounds accumulated there, and would be almost as bad as a general defeat.

The closing to foreign vessels, except under stringent regulations, of the ports of Cronstadt, Sveaborg, Libau, Sebastopol, Batoum and Ostiaffol, is the subject for a long official announcement in the official messenger this morning. The regulations are extremely rigid and extend the right to search by port authorities of all vessels before permission to enter the port is granted.

The army organ to day published the names of officers killed or wounded July 21 and Aug. 1, showing seven killed and forty wounded, including General DeKlin, commanding the Thirty-first artillery brigade. In addition eight officers are missing and one officer died from sun stroke. The paper does not say this is a complete list.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 6.—A dispatch to the Bourse Gazette from Liaoyang says another great battle has been fought in the neighborhood of Houtsaltze, on the railroad about fourteen miles west of Liaoyang, in which the Japanese losses are estimated to have been from ten to thirteen thousand and the Russian losses insignificant.

The dispatch to the Bourse Gazette, which was dated Thursday, says:

"There was fierce fighting on Tuesday, Wednesday and to day. The Japanese made a vigorous attack on the center of the Russian position at Houtsaltze. The enemy was fifty-four battalions strong, thirty-six of which were regular troops and the balance reserve men. Kuropatkin employed the reserve men to attack while the regulars carried out feints intended to delude the Russians. The reserve men attacked with desperation, with their ranks decimated by Russian fire each time they advanced. But the vacancies were quickly filled up with fresh men. The Russians ultimately slowly retired to a suitable position, whence they inflicted great losses on the Japanese by a heavy artillery fire. The Japanese losses are estimated at from ten to thirteen thousand men. The Russian losses were comparatively insignificant."

Berlin, Aug. 6.—The North German Gazette observes incidents connected with exercise of military privileges by the Russian navy have been partly settled and are being settled amicably. Also that the inquiry into the sinking of the German steamer Thea is proceeding and upon the result of this inquiry subsequent action will depend. The paper is of the opinion that the sinking of the Thea cannot be regarded as an unfriendly act of Russia towards Germany.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 6.—No confirmation is obtainable here of the report cable to a news agency in London that the Russian battleship Slava was accidentally torpedoed at Cronstadt to day.

MAY VISIT PARKER.

Esopus, N. Y., Aug. 6.—It is intimated to night that ex-Secretary of War Laymont and Judge Gray, of Delaware, will probably be visitors at Rosemont Sunday. Great importance is attached to Laymont's visit, especially in view of the increasing mention of his name in connection with the Democratic nomination for governor.

LAND REGISTRATIONS.

Devil's Lake, N. D.—Registration for the Port Totten land lottery begins Monday. Arrangements are such that 5000 names a day can be registered. Thousands of people have already arrived and everything is quiet and orderly.

STRIKERS FORGET THEIR TROUBLES

PARTICIPATE IN A PARADE AND PIONIC

Forty Thousand Unionists Join the Peaceable Demonstration in Stock Yards District—Nothing New in Strike Situation.

Chicago, Aug. 6.—"Take mother out of the packing house so we can have her care at home." Two hundred children dressed in white and waving tiny flags, bore this appeal on a placard as they marched at the head of women workers in the strikers' parade of 40,000 unionists that surrounded the beleaguered packing town in a formidable, but peaceable array to day. For the rest a platoon of police, brass bands and rough riding cattle handlers, beneath flying banners, lent sound and color to a line of more than 450 representative labor bodies. Business was practically suspended in the streets.

The demonstration ended with a picnic at Oswald's grove, where addresses were made by prominent labor leaders. While these events were in progress there was peace and quiet around the packing plants. Even the question of extending the strike by involving the teamsters was held in abeyance. The committee of the allied trades unions, which was appointed to take up the question of ordering out the truck and coal teamsters, met early in the day, but adjourned on account of the merry making. The question of shutting off the supply at the yards will also wait until Monday.

While the strikers were at their sport, the packers kept up their work of killing and shipping. The usual number of non-union men were received at the different plants and put to work. Country butchers were numerous among to day's arrivals and in a statement issued by the pickets to night it is asserted that a few more days like to day will put them in such a position that it will not be necessary to add to the forces of the butchering and cussing departments.

RIOT AT KANSAS CITY.

Kansas City, Mo., Aug. 6.—During a riot near Swift's packing plant to day, John Willis, a non-union negro employed at Swift's, fired five shots into a crowd, wounding three men, one, J. H. Edwards, a striker, seriously. After the shooting a great crowd gathered and the police had difficulty in protecting Willis from mob violence. Willis surrendered to the police, making no effort to escape, and was taken to jail.

FELL FROM WINDOW

Former Marshal of Victor, Colo. Meets Death in Mysterious Manner.

Denver, Aug. 6.—M. W. O'Connell, former marshal of Victor, Colo., was killed to night by falling from a fourth story window of the Markham hotel. There is some doubt whether O'Connell met with an accident, committed suicide or was murdered. The police hold to the suicide theory. Friends of O'Connell declare the dead marshal was murdered; that he had made enemies who would not hesitate to kill him. Against this story is the fact that none of his enemies had been seen in the neighborhood of the hotel and there is no evidence of a struggle.

O'Connell was marshal at Victor at the time of the Victor riot, June 6, and swore in a number of union men to help him preserve the peace. For this reason he was removed from office by the mayor and later was charged with participating in the riot. He was only yesterday released on $10,000 bonds.

ASSAULTED A BOY.

Sloux City, Iowa, Aug. 6.—Charles McGuire, president of the Pork Butchers' union, and leader of the local strike in the packing house district, was arrested to day for assault on a 16-year-old boy. McGuire admits the assault. He was released under $3000 bonds.

Frank Caine, a saloon keeper, was arrested on a charge of assault with intent to commit murder. It is alleged it was he who hit Deputy Sheriff Huntley in the head with a brick. Huntley is still in the hospital in a serious condition.

RUN ON BANK.

Chicago, Aug. 6.—When the doors of the Drovers' Trust & Savings bank opened to day about 150 persons were in line to withdraw deposits, continuing the run begun on the bank yesterday. President Tilden said he expected there would be withdrawals by smaller depositors for some time, but the bank is prepared to meet every emergency.

Warsaw, Ind., Aug. 6.—At the closing session of the national Reform association at Winona lake this afternoon a number of speakers took occasion to censure Bishop Henry C. Potter for his action relative to dedicating "The Model Saloon" in New York.

A BIGAMIST

Traveling Man Arrested for Being Possessor of Two Wives.

Chicago, Aug. 6.—George Wheaton, a traveling salesman for the Minneapolis Yeast company, was arrested here to day on the charge of bigamy. According to the police, Wheaton married Mrs. Jennie Watson, of Minneapolis, several years ago. Last summer he left her and two months later married his second wife, Lillian, Neb., without securing a divorce. It is claimed, from the Minneapolis wife, that it was the complaint of the second wife that Wheaton was arrested. Wheaton asserts that his Minneapolis wife had never secured a divorce from her first husband and therefore her marriage to him, was illegal.

Minneapolis, Aug. 6.—George Wheaton, arrested in Chicago, is not a resident of this city nor in the employ of any local firm, so far as known.

WATSON FEARS RUSSION.

New York, Aug. 6.—Thomas E. Watson, of Georgia, who was nominated for president by the Populist convention, and who has been in this city for three days, is very much disturbed by the reports that have come from Nebraska and Kansas that the populists of those states are considering the advisability of fusing with the Democrats.

Charles E. MacGregor, who is in charge of Mr. Watson's interests, said last night that if the Populists of Nebraska and Kansas should carry out their threat to support the Democratic ticket, the probability was that Mr. Watson would refuse to accept the nomination. Mr. MacGregor added that Mr. Watson would reach no decision in the matter until after he got to Nebraska next week and satisfied himself personally as to the situation.

ALABAMA MAN RUNS AMUCK.

Montgomery, W. Va., Aug. 6.—William Johnson, of Alabama, ran amuck at Smithers yesterday and before he could be shot had fatally wounded Will Anderson. Armed with a revolver he ran into a saloon and began firing, running everyone out of the place. Then he met Anderson, and, having no cartridges, he beat him with the butt of his revolver, after which he took possession of a company store and, securing more cartridges, began to shoot again at everything he saw. Finally some citizens armed themselves and after Johnson had been shot three times he succumbed. Firmly roped he was brought here.

FAST TYPEWRITER.

St. Louis, Aug. 6.—Sail F. Cole, of Catskill, N. Y., to day broke the world's record for the greatest number of words in seven hours of continuous typewriting. At the end of five hours, the previous record of 22,000 words was broken and Cole decreased his speed, finishing the seven hours with a total of 25,944 words. The previous record was made by Mattie E. Pretty, in the United States senate office, on July 23. In speed writing Cole uses the first finger of each hand.

MacLeod secured the first fall, after a terrific struggle of 21 minutes and 44 seconds. Gotch won the second fall in 23:20 and the third in 25:30.

A REPLY FROM COLORADO MINERS

CRITICISE GOVERNOR PEABODY'S EXPLANATION

Officials of Western Federation of Miners Make Statement—Executive of Colorado Blamed for All Lawlessness.

Denver, Colo., Aug. 6.—A reply to Governor Peabody's explanation of his course in connection with the labor trouble in Colorado was made to day by President Meyer and Secretary-Treasurer Hayward of the Western Federation of Miners. The governor's charge that the press has been unfair in its comments on the situation in Colorado is controverted.

"The press has not used the bare knuckles of denunciation, but merely the padded gloves of reluctant criticism," declare the federation officers. "The shame, the reproach and ignominy which tarnish the fair name of Colorado lies at the door of the executive chamber of the state capital."

Replying to the governor's assertion that he has waged war only against the Western Federation of Miners and is friendly to other labor organizations, the federation officers refer to the employment of troops to deport coal miners from southern Colorado and ask: "If the Western Federation of Miners is the only lawless organization, then why did the hired uniformed mob, known as the Colorado national guard, with your sanction and approval, deport and haul-pen coal miners whose national organization boasts of the conservative Mitchell, an organization which has not as yet proclaimed its endorsement of the principles of socialism? Ah, yes, beloved Peabody, you love organized labor so well that if you were the governor of Illinois, the people of the nation would ere this have heard the crack of military rifles behind the stockades of the packing companies' houses in Chicago. The very fact that organized labor in every part of the United States, Canada and Old Mexico has thundered its denunciation against the executive of Colorado, and the very fact that thousands and tens of thousands of dollars have flowed into the treasury of the Western Federation of Miners disproves the charges of lawlessness manufactured by the 'Friends of Organized Labor.' Organized labor does not contribute funds from its treasury in support of outlaws."

"The Western Federation of Miners has at no time, in all its history, attempted to defy the courts. Its members, when charged with crime, have been willing to enter the sanctuary of a judicial tribunal and be tried by a jury of their peers. In all the trials that have been held in Colorado during the present strike, where the membership has been charged with almost every perjury in the catalogue of crime, a jury has brought in a verdict of acquittal. In cases that were tried before the courts of Teller county, testimony bought and paid for by the Mine Owners' association fastened the guilt of the train wrecking on salaried detectives, and charges of murder, conspiracy, to murder and inciting to riot, came before the courts in September the finger of guilt will point to the mine operators and members of the Citizens' alliance, who are the 'Holy of Holies' with James Hamilton Peabody."

Keene, and winner of the Flash stakes on the opening day of the meeting, added the Saratoga Special to his list of winners.

Delhi had little difficulty in winning his race, he jumped out in front at the start and cut out a hot pace the full distance. Passing the grand stand the first time Waterbury was in first position, but he began to fall back soon after and was never a factor. Mercury was a good second and most of the way. The Picket finished strong in third position, a length behind Mercury, who finished second by a length. The distance was a mile and a quarter, and time 2:05 4-5.

WILL MAKE STOVES

New Manufacturing Industry for Jacksonville—Will Erect Plant on Morgan Street—Structure to Be Completed October 15.

The Economical Stove Works will be the name of a new factory which will soon begin business in this city. Messrs. Carpenter and Tonn have let a contract to Carter and Wells for the erection of a two-story brick building on their lot just across the street north from the Ward building. It will have a frontage of twenty feet facing on Morgan street and will extend north to the alley in the rear of Grove's grocery store. The structure will be modeled to afford all the conveniences for the manufacture of the new stove which is soon to be placed on the market, the enterprise being backed by local capital and the patience, a Morgan county man.

The Economical Stove company was incorporated Jan. 26, 1904, with a capital stock of $2,500, the directors being J. O. Priest, John Hodgson, C. C. Self, J. A. Unglaub and C. F. Tonn. The following are the officers:

J. O. Priest, president; John Hodgson, Treasurer; J. A. Unglaub, secretary and general manager, and J. A. Carpenter superintendent of agents.

The corporation was formed for the purpose of manufacturing a heating stove only recently patented by John A. Unglaub, of Woodson. The principle of this stove is unlike anything on the market and the idea was finally worked out after eight years of experimenting by Mr. Unglaub.

Mr. Unglaub figuring that 75 per cent of the heat in the ordinary stove is wasted and passes up the chimney planned the model of his new stove to utilize this waste heat if possible. It took him eight years to devise this model and at last was rewarded with a stove that seems in every way to solve the heat problem.

In a 10 inch fire pot of an ordinary stove there is about 1,500 square inches of heating surface and in the new pattern Mr. Unglaub has exposed 5,000 square inches, doing so by providing his stove with two air cavities with three drum partitions. There are two openings about two inches in diameter leading from near the bottom of the fire box into the outer air cavity which is the smoke chamber. The draught is down instead of up and all the smoke and flames are drawn through the bed of coals into the narrow passages out to the outer smoke chamber. The smoke and flames in passing through the bed of coals loses the carbon properties, thus eliminating the soot, dirt and fumes.

The middle chamber is purely an air chamber which is heated from both sides, the fire box on one side and the outer or smoke chamber on the other side. This middle or hot air chamber is so arranged that cold air is drawn in from the floor and escapes at the top of the stove heated. This gives a good healthy air circulation in each room. The down draft from fuel to fire instead of the present method from fire to fuel is the striking difference in the pattern of this stove from all others, and in consequence there will be no soot and very little smoke.

Mr. Unglaub will have charge of the construction work at the factory and for the present the castings for the stoves will be made out of the city and shipped here and put together, but it is the intention of the directors to install a foundry and next year to mould all the castings here.

Orders have already been placed with the Excelsior Stove Works at Quincy to make all the castings for the present and the American Sheet and Tin Plate company of St. Louis have contracted to furnish the polished steel for the outside drums and American Bessemer steel for inner drums.

The new building will be ready for occupancy about Oct. 15 and the stove will at once be put on the market.

LABOR MEN WERE HERE

Representatives From Decatur Inspected Trades Assembly Building Saturday.

Eugene Linxweiler, editor of the "Labor World" of Decatur, and Albert H. Cope were in the city yesterday as a committee from the Decatur Trades Assembly to visit the Trades Assembly of this city to investigate the assembly hall recently built here.

The Decatur organization is planning the erection of a similar structure and learning of the progress of the work here through correspondence with the secretary, A. L. Wood, concerning "Labor day," the two gentlemen named were appointed as a committee to visit the Jacksonville assembly in order to secure data to aid them in their work.

The gentlemen were favorably impressed with the building and spoke in terms of the highest praise of the energy and progressiveness which the erection of a building of such proportions represents. The local assembly numbers only about 900 members, while the Decatur organization has 3,000 members. The gentlemen argued that if Jacksonville men could have a hall of their own the Decatur assembly with over three the membership should be able to build an imposing structure.

Jacksonville, Ill., Aug. 24, 1901.—For twelve years I have suffered from sweet diabetes and have spent hundreds of dollars with various doctors, with but little benefit. I was recommended to try a bottle of Texas Wonder, Hall's Great Discovery, and will cheerfully testify to the public that it did me more good than all things else put together and am altogether another man. I have persuaded many of my friends to try it.

DEMOCRATS ARE IN QUANDARY

Questions Submitted for the Knowing Ones to Answer.

The following questions which have been circulated among the Democrats of the county by a Democrat of the true blue type and one who has participated in the councils of the party quite extensively have caused considerable comment and is indeed food for reflection. The questions are as follows and the reader is allowed to draw his own conclusion:

1. Is the doctrine of "Majority rule" a Democratic doctrine?
2. Is the doctrine of "Free speech" a Democratic doctrine?
3. Is the doctrine of "Equal rights to all and special privileges to none" a Democratic doctrine?
4. Is a convention that ignores the will of a majority of its delegates a Democratic convention?
5. Is a convention that throttles "Free speech" a Democratic convention?
6. Is a convention that refuses to recognize the "Equal rights" of its delegates to speak and vote on questions that come before it, but which permits its chairman to have the "Special privilege" of running it to suit himself regardless of the will of its delegates a Democratic convention?
7. Are the candidates of such a convention Democratic candidates?
8. Is a Democrat bound by the actions of such a convention?
9. If such things as described in the above questions occurred in a state convention and were sustained and endorsed by a national convention, is the national convention a Democratic convention?
10. Are the candidates of such national convention Democratic candidates?
11. Is a Democrat bound by the actions of such national convention?

WAS NOT WIDOW OF GOV. MENARD

Woman Who Died in Tremont Widow of Nephew of Former Lieutenant Governor Says Dr. Snyder of Virginia.

Dr. J. P. Snyder, of Virginia, president of the Illinois State Historical society, in the following letter corrects the statement that Mrs. Pierre Menard, who died Sunday in Tremont, Ill., was the widow of Pierre Menard, first lieutenant governor of Illinois:

"Virginia, Ill., Aug. 4.—Editor State Register: Permit me to correct an error in the notice of the death of Mrs. Pierre Menard that occurred at Tremont, Ill., on the first inst., as published in today's Register. The statement that she was the wife of Col. Pierre Menard, the first lieutenant governor of Illinois, from 1818 to 1822, whose statue, presented to the state by Mr. Charles Pierre Chouteau, of St. Louis, now adorns the state house lawn, is a mistake. She was probably the wife of his nephew, Pierre Menard, who served as a private soldier in Capt. A. W. Snyder's company in the Black Hawk war.

"Pierre Menard, the presiding officer of the first Illinois senate, was born at St. Antoine, thirty-five miles from Montreal, in Canada, on the 7th of October, 1766, and came to Kaskaskia from Vincennes, where he had for a short time been engaged in the mercantile business in 1790. His first wife was a native of Canada and died in Kaskaskia in 1802. On the 23d of May, 1806, he married Angélique Sauter, daughter of Francois, second son of Capt. Jean Baptiste Sauter of the French army, who came to Illinois in 1757 with Chevalier Makarty, the newly appointed commandant of Fort Chartres, and designed the plans and superintended the building of the second fort of that name.

"Colonel Menard died at Kaskaskia on June 13, 1844, and his wife also died there in 1845."

DEMOCRATIC HEADQUARTERS.

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 6.—If the executive committee of the Democratic national committee does not override Chairman Taggart, western headquarters will be established in Indianapolis. The national chairman returned to New York determined to exert all his influence in favor of his home city. He felt so confident of carrying his point before he started that he made inquiry about suitable quarters for the western organization.

Joseph T. Fanning, member of the state committee from the Seventh district, who went east with Taggart, will likewise urge the advisability of placing the western branch of the national organization in Indianapolis, and William H. O'Brien, chairman of the state committee, who left for New York this afternoon, will add his influence to that exerted by Taggart and Fanning.

DEATH RECORD

Charles Happy, who was severely injured as a result of a fall Friday afternoon, never regained consciousness and passed away at his residence on Howe street at 2 o'clock Saturday morning.

The death of Mr. Happy removes from the community one of the oldest residents of the city. For sixty years he had lived in Jacksonville, coming here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Josephus Happy, from Kentucky, where he was born sixty-five years ago.

Mr. Happy was a man of sterling worth and the strictest integrity. He was a painter by trade and enjoyed an enviable reputation for his thorough and painstaking work.

Mr. Happy served his country in the civil war for three years, being a member of both the Tenth and Forty-fifth Illinois infantry in Companies G and D respectively. His war record was a gallant one and he rendered valuable service at the time of the nation's peril.

He is survived by his wife and four children, Mrs. Timothy Riley and Mrs. James Montgomery of this city, and Mrs. Hull, of Los Angeles, Cal., and Joseph Happy, of Chicago. One sister, Mrs. Emma Happy, of this city, also survives.

The funeral will be held Monday morning at 10 o'clock at the Church of Our Savior, of which the deceased was a consistent member.

TAYLOR.

B. F. Mathers Saturday received news of the death at Hot Springs, Ark., last week of his brother-in-law, Galen Taylor, of Bayliss, of nervous prostration. He is survived by four sons, LeRoy, Wilma, Eugene and Charles.

The funeral will be held in Bayliss to day at 11 o'clock. Interment will be in Woodland cemetery.

B. F. Mathers and Frank Mathers went to Bayliss to attend the funeral.

FUNERALS

MASSEY.

Funeral services over the remains of the late William Massey were held at the residence on Pearl street Saturday at 2 o'clock. Rev. R. F. Thrapp was in charge of the services assisted by Rev. D. D. Holmes. Appropriate hymns were sung by a quartet composed of Mrs. Will Rule, Miss Graham, William Moore and Frank Plouer. The many floral emblems were cared for by Miss Myrtle Mack and Miss Effie Waters.

Interment was in Diamond Grove cemetery and the bearers were: Hart Verry, Fred Sibert, Elmer Sibert, Henry Sibert, Charles Gruber and John Gruber.

FUNNEL.

The funeral of Mrs. Ann Funnell was conducted from the home of William Ellicock Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Rev. J. P. John was in charge of the services and at their conclusion the interment took place at Diamond Grove cemetery. The many floral offerings were cared for by Miss Pearl Cameron, Miss Anna Mohoney, Miss Mabel Berry and Miss Lelia Martin. The bearers were: T. S. Bond, John Bowen, Fred Galley, P. A. Bartlett, J. Moon and Mr. Green.

Bricks Made of Sand and Lime.

Bricks are now being made of clean sand and ground quicklime that are said to be as substantial as granite. They cost $2.50 per 1,000. The mixed ingredients are forced into a strong steel cylinder mold by means of a screw. After the air has been sucked from the cylinder, hot water is admitted, the rock being formed by the resulting pressure and heat.—Country Life in America.

An Explorer.

Definitions are everything, as a prisoner brought up before a French magistrate the other day made clear again. He was arrested for having been caught with his hands in another man's pockets. "Your profession?" asked the judge. "An explorer," was the reply of the accused, who perhaps remembered Sainte-Beuve's dictum that an example is always the best definition.

An All-Negro Bank.

An evidence of what the negro, known in the territory as a freedman, is doing to better his condition is shown in the incorporation of the Creek Citizens' Realty Bank and Trust company, which was formed at Muskogee with a capital stock of $50,000. All the officers and stockholders are negroes.—Kansas City Journal.

Senator Hoar's Comment.

A document in French recently was placed at each United States senator's desk. Senator Tillman said there were not seven men in the senate who would know the Lord's Prayer if they saw it in French, whereas Senator Hoar said, "Perhaps so, but that would not be because they can't read French."

DAVENPORT-MURRAY.

Friends of the interested parties will be surprised to learn of the marriage in St. Louis Wednesday of Edward Davenport, of that city, to Miss Henrietta Murray, of Jacksonville.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father McKoon at his parsonage at 7:30 o'clock in the presence of intimate friends only. Mr. and Mrs. Davenport arrived in this city Saturday and will make their home here.

The bride is a daughter of James Murray, of South Clay avenue, and is a young lady whose many excellent traits of character have endeared her to hosts of friends. The groom came to this city from St. Louis about four years ago and has been employed in various lines of work here since that time, having more recently been at Oak Lawn Retreat. He has won many friends here by his strict honesty and fair dealing.

PRIVATE HOUSE FAKE SALES.

The above refers to a questionable method of selling pianos, house furnishings, etc., which has been practiced very generally throughout the country and in some of the larger cities has become so conspicuous as a swindle that the newspapers have refused to print their so-called "bargain offers."

In a large city the operator can advertise continuously from the same address, replacing the piano or article of furniture as fast as sold and depending upon new readers each day to swallow the bait offered. The goods made especially to be sold in this way have an attractive outward appearance and usually a fictitious name or make but are put together in the cheapest possible manner.

GLIDE AROUND MORGAN LAKE

Elegant Gasoline Launch Purchased by Cassell Bros. for Nichols' Park—Will Be Used to Day for First Time.

The gasoline launch recently ordered by Cassell brothers arrived Saturday via the Wabash and was at once taken to Nichols park where it was launched on the lake without any special ceremony. It is an elegant machine and attracted considerable attention.

The launch was made by the Western Launch and Engine company of Mishawaka, Ind. It is built in graceful lines, measuring 25 feet in length by six feet beam. The upholstery is of leather filled with cork, so that the cushions might be used as life preservers if occasion should so require.

The boat is surrounded by a brass railing and the steering wheel is also of brass. For protection against the sun is a standing top with curtains. The capacity is eighteen passengers.

The motive power of the launch consists of four and one-half horse power gasoline engine which will give a speed of eight miles an hour. The total weight is 1,900 pounds and the cost $875. It is expected to run the launch for the first time this afternoon.

The name "Big Run" appears on the prow in silver letters. A boat house measuring twelve by twenty feet has been prepared for its housing in the northwest corner of the lake. It is set on piles so that the launch may be run directly under it.

The move of Cassell brothers in placing the launch upon the lake is to be commended. It was done not merely for the pleasure or profit of the owners, but more as an attraction for the park. Such things are necessary to attract crowds, and the more the attractions of this kind the park has the greater will be the inducement to excursionists to come to this city for their outings.

There is a movement on foot for the construction of a "Shoot the Shutes" and other attractions at the lake. Although it is only talk as yet, it may be that some definite steps will be taken soon.

AT GRIGGSVILLE.

Quincy Herald: The fair and meet at Griggsville ended yesterday. As a matter of fact the races ended Wednesday so far as the harness events were concerned. The rain Thursday afternoon resulted in calling off the program for that day and yesterday the managers of the fair insisted that the track was too wet and heavy to race and declared the events off. Some of the horsemen who had been there all the week without a chance to start made strong kicks at the decision, but to no avail. The track was heavy and wet enough to excuse the action of the fair association and they saved $1,200 in premiums by it. Several Quincy horses were among the sufferers. Little Minister, who had a sure thing in the 2:00 pace, did not get a chance to shine. Osgood's Miss Breeze and Harnes's Black Beauty were also knocked out of the running. Most of the Quincy horses will go to Mt. Sterling this week and hope for better returns.

The running races on the Griggsville card were given each afternoon according to program. The track was all right for mudlarks.

Candidate Stringer Discouraged

--Apathy of Democrats the Cause—Much Disaffection in Egypt.

The troubles of Democracy in Illinois have already reached such a stage that their candidate for governor, Larry Stringer, may withdraw from the ticket and make no fight for the state. The action of southern Illinois Democrats in refusing to harmonize, the apathy of the press and the decision of the national leaders to make no effort to capture the state have disheartened the ticket. The Lincoln Courier, a Democratic sheet, published in Stringer's own town, and to that extent representing the gubernatorial candidate, contains the following: "Senator Stringer is not able to complete a tour of Egypt to pacify the disgruntled Democrats. Financially the senator is a poor man and if the Democrats of Egypt are so ungrateful and so determined as to stay away from the polls election day, central Illinois will not suffer Senator Stringer to be sacrificed in the interests of legislative and county candidates, who are profiting by his candidacy. Suppose, gentlemen, we withdraw the senator thirty days from the election, when it becomes apparent the disaffection is not going to be healed? As a supporter of Bryan in two campaigns, as the only candidate who said the vote of Illinois in national convention had to be recorded; for William B. Hearst, as the people expressed, he is entitled to different treatment to the treatment so far accorded him. With Hearst's newspapers close as a clam and with many Democrats finding fault, it is time for the friends of the candidate for governor to be considering withdrawal from the contest.

"If the disaffection in Egypt is as represented, it will be perfectly proper for Senator Stringer to save his strength and the limited funds his friends intend to raise for him to defray expenses of the campaign.

"The national committee is not disposed to pay any attention to Illinois, and if the feeling is so widespread, we, the loyal Democrats, who have been loyal and true in every campaign, are as much entitled to a rest as the shouters from the south.

"So much has been said about the state convention in Springfield that certain Democrats who could not heretofore be moved from their positions, have been led to believe that nothing right transpired in the convention. Within the next thirty days, if the bawling Democrats in southern Illinois, and even at home, do not cease their insane ravings they will have something to howl over. You cannot, and you shall not, sacrifice as good a Democrat as Senator Stringer has proven—a candidate not responsible for the gavel rule in Springfield; a candidate who could be elected by the vote of united labor if his party was true and loyal."

Foley's Kidney Cure will cure all diseases arising from disordered kidneys or bladder. For sale at Obermeyer's Drug Store.

FUTURE OCEAN LINERS

Naval Architect Believes Days of Greyhounds Numbered.

THE BALTIC TYPE TO BE COPIED.

Thomas Andrews Says Hamburg-American Line Is Going to Build Ship of That Class—Features of the Adriatic, Mate of the Baltic, Why Steamers Vibrate.

Thomas Andrews, naval architect and consulting engineer for the builders of the steamship Baltic, who came over to New York to watch the performance of the big ship, said before sailing back that it was not too much to expect the 850-foot, the 650-foot or even the 1,000-foot ship within a few years, says the New York World.

The question, he said, is not one of shipbuilding, but of harbor and channel facilities. The Mersey was almost put to the limit of her resources with the 800-foot ship, because there was comparatively little space to turn. The maneuver is a ticklish one, as a false move or too much steam at the wrong second might ruin the ship. The only drawback to the ship of 1,000 feet was the limited wharf facilities in New York and the danger of turning at Liverpool. He said the White Star line would sooner think of stopping the enlargement of its boats than giving up Liverpool as a terminal.

Mr. Andrews is only thirty-three years old, but has had control of the countless details involving the construction of the Oceanic, Celtic, Cedric and Baltic. He told the American Syren and Shipping, that the Oceanic was his favorite and really the most luxurious vessel on the Atlantic, representing everything needed in the way of comfort and safety, although not as showy as some other vessels. She had, he said, all the speed Atlantic travelers require, being less than a seven day boat. He also said the Adriatic, the mate of the Baltic, would have rectified the mistakes made in the building of the latter.

"The Baltic," continued Mr. Andrews, "burns about 285 tons of coal a day. I know one greyhound that consumes nearly 750 tons a day. The limit for speed is reached unless the lines are willing to run ships on a losing basis.

"The Baltic has 14,000 horsepower, but the Adriatic will have 15,000 horsepower, or a speed of seventeen and one-half knots; half a knot more than the Baltic, which will bring the Adriatic into New York on a Wednesday. The extra power will be imparted from four additional single-ended boilers."

The Adriatic will make her first appearance in New York waters next spring. "I doubt if the twenty-five knot boats contracted for by the Cunard line will receive the expected patronage. It is an awful hardship to travel on a fast steamer. The vibration is not due to machinery, but to the policy of driving the ship through mountainous waves regardless of structural consequences."

The Atlantic comb has a strength of 250 tons. A craft repeatedly struck on the starboard bow by 250 tons before she has had time to recover from the force of the preceding wave has too much to withstand. The machinery gets the blame for the vibration when it is really the pounding into a new wave while the ship is shaking like a leaf and trying to recover from the wave gone by. The minimum vibration in the Baltic is due to the movements of the screws and can never be obliterated.

"The great breadth of the Baltic at the bows and her snoutlike displacement serve as a sort of automatic check upon the machinery when a big wave hits her forward.

"Captain Lindsay of the Celtic has never had to slow in a heavy sea. The Celtic does it of her own accord. That is where the value of moderate speed machinery comes in. The vibration of the Baltic is caused by her screws revolving at an increased rate of speed, when her head falls into the hollow of a wave and the propellers catch water of no great solidity. The screws never turn wholly clear, because the ship's deck rolls or pitches sufficiently to lift them out of water.

"The days of the fast ship are numbered. The Hamburg-American line is going in for ships of the Baltic type. The marine turbine is greatly overestimated. It is not nearly so great a saver in weight and space as supposed. It is not the coal saver that is claimed for it. With a high rate of speed the turbine will save fuel over the reciprocating engine, but at moderate pace there is a great waste of steam."

Polo's Novel Feature.

The recent polo meeting at Ostend, Belgium, will be memorable because of the introduction of the highly successful new game called carso fleur, says the New York Herald. A number of women corresponding to the number of riders enter into the game. Each rider selects one. At a given signal the riders start to fetch baskets filled with flowers to a woman. The flowers have to be quickly and deftly arranged in another basket by the woman. The basket is then returned to the impatient cavalier, who gallops off and presents it to a jury for decision. The prize is given for the most artistically arranged basket.

Wireless Messages on Lake Balikal.

A French scientific journal states that a wireless telegraph is now working across Lake Balikal. There are stations on the east and west banks and another on the ferryship which carries the trains and breaks the ice in winter, thus enabling her to keep in communication with both banks during her passage.

A HOPELESS CASE

Mrs. Desmond was a supreme dissembler of men. They were the pawns in the checkered game of her life. She could mate in a move. Marriage was a sort of homicidal mania with her. Nobody ever made the slightest resistance against her decrees. When she thought it proper for a man to propose to a girl she simply told him that the hour had arrived. She was as incontrovertible as the guillotine.

But Tony Seton was Mrs. Desmond's despair.

Three times had she invited him to her country house, and twice had he returned, unbeguiled into marriage. Now she was in despair.

Mrs. Desmond was honestly fond of Tony Seton. She would have done almost anything for him, except let him remain single. That was too much even for her affection. "Bachelors and bachelors I hate," she said. Tony, even though he were a bachelor, she could not hate. He was too big and brown and boyish for that. Nobody ever hated him.

"Tony," said Mrs. Desmond one morning, "I am going to give you one more chance. A girl is coming to see me—charming girl—by that I mean a rich girl. That is my idea of a charming girl. Her name is Viola Lorimer. Now, Tony, and Mrs. Desmond shook her forefinger at him menacingly, "this is your very last chance. Think of all I have done for you. You have been almost as much trouble and worry to me as my husband was. He was a singularly thoughtless man until he conceived the idea of dying. Well, I suppose every one has one clever idea some time—only so few act upon it. You have been my despair for three years. You'd be a widower with a lot of money if you had been expedient. And now you've let Panny Russell engage herself to this—this cousin."

"But I don't love any girls," expostulated Tony, getting redder as his hostess' entreaties and his hostess' entreaties. "Love them!" she exclaimed scornfully. "I am talking of marriage. Now, I want you to make up your mind—or whatever you call it—to marry Viola Lorimer. She is a woman of the world, and you will be admirably suited to each other. Incidentally, she is very rich. Will you promise to do this for me? Really, you owe me something."

"You have been awfully good to me," acknowledged Tony.

"Of course I have," she agreed. "I have been perfect to you. Did I ever make you do anything disagreeable, such as getting me ice at parties or dancing with dull debutantes? Never."

"But you want me to marry some one."

"Any one," she corrected. "In small matters like that I may be exigent; I own, but in big worldly affairs I am extremely liberal. I never made you leave cards after one dinner before I asked you to another, did I?"

"No."

"There, you see you will never have a friend like me, not even if you live to be a thousand. Now, you must ask Miss Lorimer to marry you."

"Perhaps she won't," suggested Tony, with a suspicion of hope in his voice.

"Oh, pooh!" said Mrs. Desmond conclusively. "She will jump at you. You are very good looking. Do you know that, Tony? Only you must be careful not to get fat. You big fair people so often get fat in your old age. Let me see, how old are you? Twenty-eight? Heavens! You ought to have been married ages ago."

In due course Tony Seton was introduced to Miss Lorimer, and he was fain to acknowledge that she was charming, Tony, who had never known a moment of love in his whole life, realized that he was in great danger. He had killed grizzlies in the Rocky mountains, and he had hunted tigers in Indian jungles, but he had never known a woman like her. He was introduced to her at a meeting of the club, and he found himself in the very division of the conservatory alone with Miss Lorimer.

Tony asked her to marry him and she refused him point blank. She explained that she was engaged already. She let Tony hold her hand, however. Tony was not above those things, even though he was unmarried.

Later he told Mrs. Desmond that he had been refused, and Mrs. Desmond was furious. She stamped her foot. It was so small and daintily shod that she was a picture of rage. And finally, from sheer disappointment and chagrin, she began to cry. She was going back to London on the following day, and Tony unengaged. Somebody must marry Tony. It was grotesque.

Poor Tony had never seen Mrs. Desmond do anything but laugh, and he had always laughed with her. He hesitated an instant, wondering what to do, and then suddenly she found herself in his arms.

"I love you," whispered Tony.

"So do I," she said irreverently.

"And I want to marry you," he added.

And Mrs. Desmond gave him his big hand a little squeeze and dried her eyes and smiled again.

"So do I," she reiterated.

Then Tony kissed her.

"I wouldn't have had you go back to London unengaged for anything," confessed Mrs. Desmond—London Sun.

Bloomington Street Railway Strike Ended—Gillott Case Refused Rehearing—Virginia Death

Bloomington—The street railway strike which has been on here since Jan. 1 ended yesterday and a meeting of the trades assembly will be held Sunday to raise the boycott. Rev. G. A. Scott, of the Methodist church, and Rev. Father Burke, of St. Patrick's Catholic church, negotiated with the car company officials yesterday on behalf of the strikers and an agreement satisfactory to both sides was reached. Under the agreement the company will accept applications for work from its former employees and will fill vacancies in the present force from such applications and will not attempt to blacklist its former employees in other cities. The strike has been the most bitterly fought labor battle in the city's history. The cars were frequently stoned and a bus line was operated by the strikers in opposition to the car company.

Lincoln—An attempt to secure a rehearing of the famous Gillott case failed in the circuit court yesterday afternoon. Judge Moffett, who was on the bench, confirmed the recent decree in the case and overruled the motion for a new trial. A jury recently decided the case in favor of Mrs. Emma Oglesby and son, Hiram G. Keays, defenders of the will, against Miss Jessie Dean Gillett, who sought to break the codicil to the original will. When the court refused a new trial, an appeal was prayed and bonds to the amount of $15,000 were filed.

Virginia—E. B. Randall, aged 82 years, and resident of this city, died Friday morning. Funeral services will be held at the residence Sunday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock. He leaves a widow.

BISHOP POTTER IS CENSURED

Temperance Union of Kansas City Administer Scathing Rebuke to Eminent Divine.

Kansas City, Aug. 6.—The Kansas City branch of the American Young People's Christian Temperance union strongly disapproves of the ideas of Bishop Potter, of New York, with regard to uplifting the moral tone of the saloon. At a meeting of the union the matter was discussed, and a letter was addressed to the bishop, which will be sent to him today.

A copy of the letter follows: "May God have mercy upon your benighted idea of striking the keynote of attack upon the liquor situation. You are, rather indorsing the key that opens wide the doors of hell, to an army of 100,000 souls, who annually leave the King's highway and stumble into drunkards' graves.

"The present situation across the water of fifty-five bishops in the Church of England as stockholders in breweries and distilleries, with this shameful farce of a bishop in the great Episcopal church in our own land taking a leading part in the opening exercises of a saloon, closing the same by singing the doxology, should make every professed Christian follower in this great Episcopal church hang his head in very shame."

OPENED CAMPAIGN

Boston, Aug. 6.—Senator Henry Cabot Lodge opened the presidential campaign in the east at Point Shirley, Winthrop, this afternoon, when he spoke to the North Dorchester Republican club. Senator Lodge's address was his first public utterance in the campaign and he devoted his time principally to defining the attitude of the Republican party on the question of reciprocity with Canada.

Rules That Should Be Observed in Serving a Meal.

Napkins must be folded simply and not in fanciful forms.

Place knives and forks in the order in which they are to be used, the first one used on the outside farthest away from the plate.

Extra plates, glasses, knives, forks and spoons should be in readiness on the side table.

Batter must not be served so early as to become soft.

Bread should be freshly cut.

Any dish from which a person at table helps himself should be offered at the left. Any dish which a waitress serves should be placed at the right.

When removing a course, food must be first taken, then soiled dishes, then clean dishes, then carrying cloth and lastly crumbs.

Soiled plates and dishes should be removed from the right of each person.

Everything relating to one course must be removed before serving another course.

A meal must not be announced until everything is ready which is or may be needed.

Care of Kitchen Knives.

A complete assortment of good knives should form the stock of every well appointed kitchen and dining room, and the best of care should be given them. Kitchen knives are as a rule treated as if it were the chief object in life to blunt the blades and break the points as soon as possible. One way which knives are destroyed is by putting them in a pan of hot water and allowing them to soak until the handles are loosened and split and the blades fall out. Grease, acid, salt, etc., all act upon the steel and impair its sharpness. When ready to wash the knives, take a knife in one hand and a soft cloth in the other. Dip the blade in warm (not hot) water; wash thoroughly and quickly, pass the wet cloth over the handle, and then with a soft, dry cloth wipe until thoroughly dry.

To Rid Pussy of Fleas.

Pussy has trials of her own in hot weather, and the fleas that trouble her are far more treacherous than dog fleas. If left unchecked, they soon reduce a sleek, healthy cat to a veritable skeleton. To get rid of her tormentors give her a good bath with warm water and sulphur soap, work in rapidly and with consideration for the sensitive ears, eyes and nose. While the hair is still wet comb with a fine tooth comb, rinse in tepid water dry with soft cloths and give her after her bath a saucer of warm milk. When the hair is quite dry, blow in along the backbone very fine insect powder, and rub behind the ears with sulphur ointment. The next day the powder can be all brushed out and the backbone rubbed with the ointment.

MATHENY & LLOYD.

(By Associated Press.)

Chicago, Aug. 6.—Wheat—There was a largely to day, but the market was nervous and sensitive. Fine weather in the north-west, eastern chills and liberal receipts started a rush of selling at the start and the market was weak. New York reported foreign sellers of December and May in that market and there was general liquidation. Manitoba crop advices were bearish and weather in the northwest was clear. At the decline the market found resting orders and shorts covered freely, causing a steeper tone,

the strength at Minneapolis being a factor. Press reports from the northwest regarding rust were decidedly bullish.

The closing prices showed decline of 3/4 cent for wheat, while December lost 1/4 cent and May.

Corn—Corn was easier with a fair general trade, the close showing losses of 1/4 and 1/2. The market was influenced chiefly by the weather, cables and action of wheat. Commission houses and floor traders sold, while the demand was only moderate. Professionals bought May and the long interest gave September some support. Fine rains were reported in western Kansas where most needed rain showers probable in that state, but generally fair weather elsewhere. The southwestern markets were weaker.

Oats—Oats were weak on liberal selling by cash interests and closed 1/4 lower.

Buying was scattered and mainly by commission houses. There were no new developments in the weather and crop conditions.

FINANCIAL NEWS.

New York, Aug. 6.—There is little to record of to day's short session of the stock exchange. Dealings ran down to a level of midsummer dullness and the prices were so sluggish as to be entirely inconclusive as to any sentiment over the outlook for values to be expressed. This uncertainty over the extent of damage to spring wheat was a continuing factor and is expected to be until the publication of the government report Wednesday. The rally in prices of British consols in London is a favorable influence on all securities on the market. Closing quotations:

CAMPING OUT.

Details of an Outfit That Will Serve

For Years.

Dorothy Storm in the August House

Beautiful gives the following hints on camping:

The character of the camp to be built must vary with the size of the family and the amount of money to be spent.

A man and his wife may buy for $25 a very comfortable outfit which will serve for a number of years. Such an equipment includes a tent 10 by 14 with a

"fly" large enough to protect the tent and a spire corresponding to a piazza before or behind it. There will be two canvas cot beds, a camp stove and a limited supply of dishes and cooking utensils. Such a camp can be accommodated on a platform which may cost not less than $3 or more than $5 if the owner is himself something of a carpenter. It is wise, however, to employ a skilled workman to take all responsibility in laying a platform. Solid posts sunk into the ground or set on stones are first necessary. Across these stringers are laid at short intervals, and boards planed on one side of uniform width will complete the structure.

For even the smallest camp the addition of an enclosed kitchen adds greatly to the comfort of the occupants and need cost only from $10 to $15 extra.

The guy ropes of the tents, instead of being pegged to the ground in the usual fashion, should be lashed to strong poles firmly nailed to well anchored posts. Where there are older children additional tents may be added at will.

To keep the mother and her daughters will occupy the large tent on the long platform and the father and his boys another near at hand. A guest tent is as great a necessity as a guest room in a hospitable house. All the decencies and proprieties of life should be as carefully observed as at home.

FIRECRACKERS AS ALARMS.

Baltimore's Chief Recommends Use of Giant Kind in Homes.

Chief George W. Horton of the Baltimore fire department says the best fire alarms are giant firecrackers scattered liberally over the house, and to prove his theory he has placed the big "crackers" all over his own home, says a

Baltimore dispatch.

Chief Horton says:

"I have these crackers distributed all over my house and have advised many persons to use them. The idea is decidedly practicable. One of the crackers is attached to a length of wire, and it is then suspended from a place where it is likely to be useful. I have these crackers hanging from the ceiling of the cellar, from the padded seats of the chairs, from the sofas from every place where they will conveniently put where they will not be too noticeable and where they are likely to be of some use.

"The idea is simply this: If a fire oc-</

SCHAWB BACK

Returns From Europe and Says
He Has Given $2,000,000 to Friends Who Suffered From Shipbuilding Trouble.

New York, Aug. 6.—Charles M. Schwab, millionaire steel magnate and organizer of the United States ship building bubble, got back from Europe yesterday on the big steamship Baltic. To a reporter who met him on the White Star line dock Mr. Schwab confirmed the report that, out of his private fortune, he has been making good the losses of his personal friends incurred by the collapse of the ship building trust. "I have already paid out to my friends $2,000,000 of my own money," he said, "for I felt that I should bear the responsibility of their unfortunate undertakings and, therefore, voluntarily turned over to them that amount of my personal money."

Mr. Schwab said that he had been in Germany examining a new armor plate that had been manufactured at the Krupp in Germany. "But they are not ahead of us on the other side," said the former president of the steel trust, "either in the manufacture of armor plate or any other steel product."

MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

The Missionary society of the Christian church met at the home of Mrs. Watt Thursday afternoon. An interesting program was given on the subject of "Our Mountain Missionaries." Miss Tennie Grassley was chosen delegate to the state convention, which will be held early in September. Mrs. George Hillier resigned the position of secretary and Mrs. George Vickery was elected to fill her place. After the meeting delightful refreshments were served and a social hour enjoyed.

THRILLING EXPERIENCE.

Hannibal, Mo., Aug. 6.—Reports received from Louisiana show that John McCaffrey, of Keokuk, the man who is making a trip down the river on a log, had a thrilling experience between Hannibal and Louisiana. McCaffrey was in Clarksville Thursday night and got sail from that city yesterday morning.

On his journey between Hannibal and Louisiana, McCaffrey suffered a delay of two hours in the vicinity of Gilbert's Island. The log was caught in several whirlpools about the island and gave the raftsmen something to do. In telling the story at Louisiana McCaffrey said the log spun around so fast at times that it kept him busy trying to keep on.

McCaffrey announces that it is his intention to sell the log at the world's fair. It is the consensus of opinion of people who have been keeping track of McCaffrey that the fair has developed many freaks who have heretofore been undiscovered.

BEARS STOP TRAIN.

Lock Haven, Pa., Aug. 6.—Four bears stopped an excursion on the Cannel and Black Forest railway. When the train neared Wilcox Summit a large bear was seen standing on the trestle, while three more bears were under the trestle digging around some of the supports, making it unsafe for the train to cross.

All efforts of the train crew and 250 plenickers on the train to dislodge the "critters" with stones and clubs were unavailing until several long poles were secured. On the ends of these poles oil soaked waste was fastened and then fired. A charge was then made on the animals and they retreated into the forest.

THE TEAMSTERS.

Cincinnati, Aug. 5.—The national Teamsters to day changed their by-laws so that in the future strike benefits will continue as long as there is any chance in the judgment of local and national officers to win a strike. At present the benefits are discontinued at the end of four weeks.

HANGED BY NEGROES.

Selma, Ala., Aug. 6.—Edmund Bell, a negro, was taken from three constablos by a mob of 300 negroes, eight miles from Selma, to day, hanged to a tree and his body riddled with bullets. Thursday evening Bell assassinated Houston Scruggs, another negro.

RAILROAD NEWS NOTES

Burlington May Extend Former
J. & St. L. System Beyond
Centralia—Rock Island Shops
at Moline Are Completed—
Personal Items.

The trip of the Burlington officials south on the old J. & St. L. Thursday may be significant, as the following appeared in the St. Louis Globe Democrat Saturday:

Chief Engineer Zook for the Northern and Southern Illinois railroad has opened an office in Centralia and is in the field with a corps of surveyors running a survey for a railroad from Centralia to Herrin, in Williamson county. It is generally thought that the Burlington road, whose terminal is Centralia, is behind the move, and that it is really an extension of that line into the Williamson county coal fields.

General Manager C. A. Goodnow, of the Alton, inspected the Coal City branch for the second time in two weeks Friday.

Trainmaster Junod, of the Alton, issued a circular Friday notifying conductors to keep their cabooses clean. They must be kept neat and scrubbed twice a month.

William Felton laid off Friday to visit the fair and DuBois took out 19 on the Alton.

The Rock Island has just completed the largest car and locomotive repair shops in the United States at Moline, Ill. The buildings of the plant cover an area of sixteen acres, while the entire grounds used in yards, etc., are eleven hundred acres in extent. The machine shop covers three city blocks, and is larger than any of the buildings of the Pennsylvania's plant in Altoona, Pa. Five thousand men will be given steady employment as soon as the shops are fully completed and equipped. And the road will then build many of its locomotives and its cars right there.

Local freight No. 70 on the Wabash came in Saturday with only four cars on. This breaks the record. They picked up twelve cars and pulled into Decatur with a good string.

Wabash freight No. 91 from the east came in Saturday in two sections, loaded mainly with coal for Hannibal and Moberly, Mo.

Trainmaster L. W. Karnes, of the Wabash, was in the city Saturday on business with local railroad men.

The Alton Red limited, the pride of the road, was badly damaged Friday while passing Cayuga. A swinging door on 86 was extended outward just enough to catch the sheathing under the windows of the limited as it flashed by at the rate of forty miles an hour. The damage extended to every car except the rear parlor car. The extent of the damage will not be known until the train goes in the shops. The Red train has been very popular and the company has realized a large profit from it.

Charles Roberts, time keeper for the Big Four at Walshville, is spending Sunday with friends and relatives in the city.

T. Ives, mail clerk on the Alton train No. 24, was taken sick on his run this morning and compelled to lay off.

T. J. Burns, division passenger agent of the Alton, was in the city Saturday on business interests.

J. C. Yancy, roadmaster's clerk, and Charles Yancy, foreman of the freight house on the C. & A., will spend Sunday at their home in Prentice.

Switch engine No. 5 of the C. P. & St. L. was sent to Springfield Saturday after a complete overhauling at the shops.

The Burlington had on a new coach, No. 257, Saturday on train No. 48.

We sell fuel at prices as low as the lowest. Walton & Co.

FISHING PARTY.

A party consisting of John Sibert, Benjamin Pyatt, Clarence Massey, A. R. Taylor, Dr. J. E. Wharton and C. S. McCullough will leave to day for Havana to enjoy a week's outing at Quiver lake, a short distance above that city. They expect to return on the 13th.

POLICE NEWS.

Edward Sargent was arrested for drunkenness by Captain Kennedy and Officer Murgatroyd.

Taylor Willets was arrested by Captain Kennedy for drunkenness.

FOREST FIRES.

St. Johns, N. F., Aug. 6.—Renewed outbreaks of forest fires are causing widespread destruction. A number of settlements have been destroyed and the outskirts of St. Johns are now threatened. It is estimated that $200,000 worth of marketable timber has already been destroyed.

CRASHED INTO WORK TRAIN.

Boseman, Mont., Aug. 6.—The special train of Superintendent Boyle, of the Montana division of the Northern Pacific, crashed into two work engines in the Boseman yards this evening. William Thomas MacGuigal, of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, travelling engineer of the Northern Pacific, was killed and his body is now beneath the wreckage of the engine of the special. William Crast, of Helena, engineer of the special, and his fireman, Charles Pepper, were both fatally scalded.

LOOT RECOVERED.

Missoula, Mont., Aug. 6.—Fifty thousand dollars worth of securities, cash and diamonds were recovered this evening, which had formed part of the loot of the Bearmouth train robbery. John Christie who was arrested in Hope, N. D., to day guided Special Agent McFettridge to the place where the cache was made, eight miles below the scene of the robbery. To night Christie was taken to Phillipsburg, where he will remain until tried in September.

Her Wish Gratified.

Born in the last year of the eighteenth century and therefore aged fifteen when the battle of Waterloo was fought, Mme. Veuve Dupuis, who is still hale and hearty, was a guest of honor at the unveiling of Gerome's monument, the Wounded Eagle, on the scene of the struggle of giants. Her one wish, to travel to the battlefield in a motor car, was gratified. She did not, however, remain long away from her residence at Chapelle les Herlain court, as she did not know how her "boys," aged eighty and seventy-eight, would get on without her. It cannot be said that her memories of Waterloo are very complete or distinct. All she recollects is that she heard at the time of thieves cutting off wounded officers' fingers to steal their rings.

Rent a Cent a Month.

Anthony Suda of St. Louis lives in a house for which he pays a rental of a cent a month. This rental is charged by his employers, and Suda's task is that of acting as watchman at the factory almost adjoining his home. His employers state that they charge Suda a cent a month rent for the house in order that he would be entitled to thirty days' notice before eviction in the event of the property passing into other hands.

KILLED BY HIS SERVANT.

Hartford, Conn., Aug. 6.—Ex-Commissioner of Police Henry Osborne was shot and killed by his negro servant to day. The cause is unknown. The servant escaped.

About Worth Skirts

It might not be amiss to add a few words about a "lady-like and lovely" skirt, for the knack of properly holding up a skirt may be wasted on an unsightly shapeless garment.

By reason of stunningly smart conceptions on correct and graceful lines, the Worth skirt has stood securely in the very first rank. To wear a worth skirt is to be certain that you have the correct vogue.

Plaited skirts will be the most popular of all designs the coming season. Although plaits are not new by any means, yet the new arrangements of them contrived by Worth reflect the fascination of harmony and proportion—a joy of viewing things beautiful is in the air.

Style is the soul of the Worth skirt. Its fit is ideal, yielding a wealth of comfort to its wearer that is immeasurable. Added to these qualities is the modest price, making the Worth Skirt supremely a skirt of worth—the skirt for women in real life.

If you are not a Worth Skirt wearer, you should get into that happy habit. Its excellent wearing qualities, as well as the sense of satisfaction that your skirt is trim and will afford a deal of delight long after the price paid is forgotten.
